an IndustrialMech and looked as though he would lead a normal life. Little is known about what followed, but a warrant for Maignlov's arrest is still outstanding on Ozawa, connected to the brutal slaying of his adoptive brother during an apparent altercation in the mines north of Sapparo.

Maignlov rarely speaks, and he has no friends in the Band of Five who might be able to shed light on his past or explain why he prefers to use his AgroMech's brutal combine so frequently in battle.

The AgroMech MOD-B takes the previous combat modification of the basic AgroMech to its next logical step, upgrading the armor and firepower for increased durability and battle effectiveness. Featuring an advanced, faster-cycling rotary autocannon system, and a reinforced combine intended for the rigors of melee combat, the MOD-B boasts a stronger punch and greater resistance to damage.

Bill Maignlov's MOD-B, nicknamed "Old Painless," has been his since he joined the Band of Five regiment. Eager to bring his preferred weapon, the combine, to bear quickly, Maignlov often rushes ahead of a friendly formation, ignoring orders to pull back in the hope that he can get a head start on closing with the enemy. Once battle is joined, he is known for firing his autocannon nonstop until he closes with an enemy unit, and then using his combine against the hapless foe until nothing even remotely salvageable remains.

Large, muscular, and totally void of human compassion, Bill Maignlov's claim to fame is the particularly brutal way he likes to dispatch his victims, a method that has many of his colleagues dubbing him "The Shredder" behind his back. What drove him to this level of barbarism is anyone's guess, but records show that Maignlov was born and raised in the slums of a forgotten city on Ozawa, and his parents were brutally slain by sword-wielding thieves when he was still a young boy.

Placed in a foster home with a mining family outside the planetary capital of Sapporo, Bill learned how to pilot
