Though descended from the original Nova Cat warriors who fought alongside Devlin Stone during the Jihad, Malisa Nova Cat's freeborn status forced her to fight hard to live up to her legacy. Her drive and skills paid off when she passed her Trial of Position with one kill, earning the rank of MechWarrior. And through her fanatic devotion to the ways of the Clan and The Republic, she earned an assignment to the elite Shiva Keshik Cluster.

When the HPG network crashed and The Republic appeared to do the same, Malisa undertook a vision quest to determine her role in the future of her people. Claiming that her vision showed her defending a wounded Nova Cat against a horde of barbarians clad in various colors, she swore her undying devotion to Galaxy Commander Key Rosse's command.

In combat, Malisa is a study in contrasts. Whipping herself into a frenzy before any major engagement, she often charges into battle with weapons blazing, risking shutdown in order to deal her enemies a lethal blow. Once the frenzy wears off, however, her methods become much cooler and more precise, demonstrating the results of intensive Clan training.

Though particularly favored by the Jade Falcons, the Uller BattleMech (known as the Kit Fox among the Clans) became a common sight on all fronts during the initial years of the Clan invasion. A light 'Mech, built more for firepower than speed, the Uller was one of the lightest 'Mechs in its day to sport the monstrously powerful Gauss rifle, but its weak armor and comparatively slow overland speed made its life expectancy somewhat brief.

Serial number JF327-12E, nicknamed "Whirlwind" by Malisa Nova Cat, was originally manufactured for Clan Nova Cat's Delta Galaxy, and miraculously survived the fires of the Jihad to become part of those forces gifted to Devlin Stone's Republic. Since its assignment to Malisa, however, this Uller has logged more hours in repair bays than on the field, mostly to replace blown-out heat sinks that are the legacy of Malisa's battle-frenzy tactics.
